Welcome to Clemson

We are delighted to have each of you with us today to enjoy the strong competitive college football of which we at Clemson are so proud. Clemson games are always eventful and memorable, and sometimes explosive and dramatic.

As you look out from this magnificent stadium, beyond the flashing eyes of the scoreboard tiger, you will readily see much of the tremendous physical expansion taking place on this old, picturesque plantation.

We hope, too, as you tour our campus and talk with our people, you will grasp the enormous good works being done here---and sense the steady growth of excellence in our educational programs.

Whether joyous or disappointed with the outcome of today's game, we hope you will leave Clemson with plans to visit us again soon, and often.

About The Coach . . .

Frank Howard is now in his 32nd year on the Clemson staff and the team representing the Tigers on the playing field today is Howard's 23rd Clemson eleven.

His stay at Clemson is unparalleled for a head coach and only Jess Neely at Rice has been at one institution as long as Howard. Both Neely and Howard have held their respective positions longer than anyone else in college athletics today.

Howard's Tigers have played in six major post-season bowl games—more than any other team in the Atlantic Coast Conference—and the Tigers also have the best bowl record of any ACC team with four wins and three losses.

In the nine years of conference competition Howard has guided the Tigers to an overall 57-32-1 mark, second only to Duke's 57-30-6. Against league foes only, the Tigers are 31-15-1 prior to the 1962 season.

The Century Club . . .

Fifteen coaches who are at major football institutions (as classified by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau) have now won 100 or more games in their careers. Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Andy Gustafson of Miami (Fla.) Rip Engle of Penn State and Odus Mitchell of North Texas State joined the growing list after last season. A possible member during the 1962 season is Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee, who now has 95 wins. Coach Frank Howard of the Clemson Tigers ranks sixth in the nation for the most wins in a career. Listed below are the "Century Club" members.

Football and Fitness

Football has given me some of the most pleasant and exciting moments of my life, from a Harvard-Yale game I saw 40 years ago to last year's Army-Navy game. I remember my 21st birthday not as the day I became eligible to vote, but as the day Michigan's great Tom Harmon scored 21 points in the first half of a game against California. Many of my boyhood heroes were football stars, and I still thrill to a long run, a solid block, or a good tackle. In short, I am like a lot of other Americans who never quite made the team but love the game.

I sometimes wonder whether those of us who love football fully appreciate its great lesson: that dedication, discipline, and teamwork are necessary to success. We take it for granted that the players will spare no sacrifice to become alert, strong, and skilled, that they will give their best on the field. This is as it should be, and we must never expect less, but I am extremely anxious that its implications not be lost upon us.

In a large sense, all of us are engaged in a struggle more fiercely-contested, and far more important to our future, than you are witnessing here today. It is the struggle for the hearts, the minds, and the souls of men, and there are no spectators—only players. It is a struggle which will test our courage, our strength, and our stamina, and only if we are physically, mentally, and spiritually fit can we win.

In the past, on many occasions, I have expressed the belief that physical fitness is necessary to all other forms of excellence, that only the active, vigorous person can fully realize his potential. I have constantly urged parents, schools, and communities to provide their youngsters the vigorous activity necessary to healthy development. I repeat this plea now.

The young men on the field today did five or ten minutes of calisthenics just to prepare for 60 minutes of hard football. The exercises loosen their muscles, key their senses, and put them in the proper frame of mind to play. Yet, many American boys and girls cannot do one pullup, or even raise themselves to a sitting position without using their hands. Perhaps some of them are in the stands today.

A recent survey of the schools revealed that one-fourth of our children are physically underdeveloped, and that half are substandard in some phase of strength, stamina, agility, or flexibility. At the time, I described these statistics as "shocking." I will go even further: they indicate a threat to the continued vigor, growth, and freedom of America.

Fortunately, there is a way to solve our fitness problem. Working with 19 leading educational and medical organizations, my Council on Youth Fitness has outlined a program which, if adopted in every school, will enable our children to build the strength and energy which are their rightful heritage. The program suggests (1) a health appraisal for every child; (2) a physical screening process to identify underdeveloped children; (3) at least 15 minutes of vigorous activity as part of a daily physical education program, and (4) periodic achievement tests to measure progress and provide incentive.

I strongly urge you to see that your child has the opportunity to participate in such a program. Not just so that he might become a football player someday—although that would be fine, too—but so that he will be able to live imaginatively, confidently, and usefully.

Remember, all of our children are on your team. We can do no less than to see that they are fit—fit to learn, fit to understand, fit to grow in grace and stature, and fit to serve our nation in its hour of need.

Should a gentleman offer a Tiparillo to a lady?

What is the story of this remarkable new smoke by Robt. Burns?

If she enjoys smoking a cigarette, why not? The Tiparillo* is slim, neat, mild as mild can be. Go ahead, offer her one.

But although Tiparillo is not "men only" it is "men mainly." And that new pliable, pearly tip pays more than just lip service to your smoking pleasure. It's your mouthpiece to the careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos. Tiparillo has the kind of flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy... peace of mind in every puff. Moreover, there's the exclusive veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

The surprisingly whiter ash is visible evidence of Tiparillo mildness. And that's your best smoking tip for today. Only 5¢ each. ONLY 5¢? Yes, only 5¢.

*T. M. GENERAL CIGAR CO., INC.

Tiparillos are on sale at this stadium.

The USC Series

It's that time again!

For the 60th time, Clemson and South Carolina are meeting on the gridiron today. Fifty-eight of these previous 59 contests were played in Columbia with the 1960 game the only one not played in Gamecock territory.

Today not only marks just the second time in history that the Gamecocks have left their friendly confines to meet the Tigers, but it marks the first time that the game has been played as the seasonal wind up for both teams.

And another departure from tradition today is that kick-off has been set for 1 p.m. instead of the traditional 2 o'clock. This will enable most fans traveling from Columbia and vicinity to be back home by dark.

Clemson has won five of the last seven games. After a long drought from the Tigers' standpoint from 1949 through 1954, Clemson won three straight (1955-56-57) then dropped one the following year. Another pair of wins came in 1959 (the last "Big Thursday" game) and in 1960 (the first game at Clemson) before Carolina came back last season to take one of the most exciting games in the entire series, 21-14.

Although the Tigers lead in the series 34-22-3 which started in 1896, Coach Frank Howard's personal feud with the Gamecocks is less than .500. In 22 games against South Carolina, Howard has 9 wins, 11 losses and 2 ties.

Clemson is approaching the 1,000-mark point against the Gamecocks, having scored 924 points in 59 games. South Carolina, on the other hand, has tallied 542 points against the Tigers. With Howard his Tigers have pushed over 274 with the Gamecocks, while South Carolina has 20 more than Clemson.

In regard to shutouts the Tigers lead in this department, 21 to 12. Clemson's latest shutout came just three seasons ago (27-0 in 1959) while the Gamecocks have not held the Tigers scoreless since 1952 (6-0).

Carolina's biggest margin of triumph came in 1925 when the Gamecocks rang up a 33-0 score. Clemson has three games of wider margin—51-0 in 1900, 44-0 in 1935 and 39-0 in 1938.

Besides the 51-0 game, the most points scored by both teams came in 1938 when Clemson won 34-12. Forty-two points were scored in 1955 when Clemson won, 28-14.

For the seniors on the two ball clubs today, they will be trying to win the "rubber game" of their personal series. The Clemson seniors of today won their game as sophomores at Clemson in 1960 by a 12-2 count and the Carolina seniors recorded their win as juniors last year, 21-14.

Both clubs had hoped for and expected better seasons than they experienced this year, but even with the so-so record of each, both clubs have exciting offensive stars as well as forward walls that can be as tough with prima donna backs as any found anywhere.

The team that wins today will have a lot of 1962 wounds healed and will experience a shorter winter than the loser.

Clemson Owns Largest Crowd In South Carolina Football History . . .

The largest audience ever to witness a football game in South Carolina was on hand Nov. 12, 1960 in Clemson Memorial Stadium—Death Valley—when the South Carolina Gamecocks made their first visit to Clemson. Those 45,080 fans who witnessed that 12-2 Clemson victory were recorded on that autumn afternoon in this aerial photograph. Despite the records of both teams, a crowd approaching—or even surpassing—that 1960 number is expected today.

Clemson Football Network

Back in 1954 the Clemson Athletic Association decided to organize a radio network which would bring Clemson football games into every corner of South Carolina and in neighboring states.

The Clemson Football Network, operated wholly by the athletic association, has been one of the most successful anywhere.

During the 1961 season the network had 475 station broadcasts, or an average of 47.5 stations per game—an all-time high. Feeds were made to stations in North Carolina, Georgia and South Carolina.

The same two familiar voices will again be on the network for the 1962 season. Jimmie Coggins will handle the play-by-play commentary while Ed Osborne will describe the pre-game warm-up, give time out chatter and interview visiting scouts, sportswriters and other personalities in the press box during halftime.

Coggins, the dean of South Carolina sports broadcasters, is owner of Station WKDK in Newberry and is co-owner with Osborne of Station WBCU in Union and WAGS in Bishopville.

Coggins broke into radio 28 years ago with WSPA in Spartanburg. He also worked at WAIM in Anderson before going to Newberry in 1949. Prior to joining the network in 1954 he broadcast the Clemson games during the seasons of 1936-37-38-47-48-49. In 1950-51-52 he did the "Game of the Week" on Station WIS, Columbia.

Osborne served as director of both the Clemson News Bureau and the sports publicity office from 1947 through the spring of 1950. The Clemson graduate then got into radio work with WMSC in Columbia as sales representative and sports director. Since early 1953, he has been manager of WBCU.

Osborne is a past president of the South Carolina Broadcasters Assn. Coggins was singled out in 1960 by being voted the "Sports Announcer of the Year" in South Carolina.

College Football—Builder of Men

by WILLIAM D. MURRAY

President, American Football Coaches Association
Head Football Coach, Duke University

In my opinion, college football's greatest contribution lies in developing spirit—the spirit that makes a devoted, loyal, patriotic, unselfish citizen. The very nature of the game itself demands the complete dedication that our nation so desperately needs.

It is not my purpose, in any way, to discount the physical fitness values of football. We hear and read much of our lack of physical fitness and our government is spending much to improve our standing in this. It is obvious that fitness is one of the prime requisites of college football. A player must be in top shape in this great game. Physical fitness, however, can be acquired in many ways.

But on the spiritual side, college football is one of the great forces of American education. This applies not only to the player himself but also, to some extent, for those who only play the game as spectators.

There are many stories I could tell to point to the value of football. I have spent a life-time in the game, as a player in grammar school, high school and college and as a coach in high school, in a so-called "small-time" football college and now at a so-called "big-time" football college.

A football "hero" is not born a hero. He makes it by a rather unglamorous dedication to purpose and many hours of laborious practice. Several years ago a great football game came to its climactic moment. The underdog team had rallied from a 0-20 deficit to a 20-20 tie. A young player came off the bench and calmly and deliberately split the uprights for the extra point that brought his team victory. It was a glamorous occasion for the victors and the hero, of course, was the place-kicker.

But his ability to kick that point did not come easily. On the football field, day after day, during the spring practice period and in the fall playing season, this boy had remained after practice and had been there before practice and had kicked and kicked and kicked, thousands of times. It had become automatic to him. He had by extra hours and hard work prepared himself for this situation.

Examine any player who is a regular on a successful team. You will inevitably find concentration and willingness to devote himself in great measure to the demands of the game. These demands are so rigorous that only those who are willing to dedicate themselves to tremendous physical and mental exertion over a long period of time can make the grade.

The principles of unselfishness so dominate the game that only those individuals who are willing to sacrifice self for the whole make up teams that have continued success. Every player has an exacting job to do during every split second of action—this is team play. To do your job and to have faith in your teammates to do theirs is required. Players who persist in neglecting their own duties to assist in the more glamorous areas of play will never have the honor of representing a championship team.

This spirit of unselfishness and optimism can best be brought out by a story of a game played in the days when substitutes could not return to the game. At the end of the first half we were behind, 7-14. Our players evened the gap early in the second half to make it 14-14. I sent in our place kicker to kick off to the opposing team. The opponents moved the ball to midfield and fumbled. I called our starting guard to go back into the game for our place kicker and he said, "Coach, you don't want me to go back, for if Jim comes out of the game, we won't have anybody to kick the extra point." Unselfish and optimistic was he.

As in no other peacetime area, the game of football demonstrates the use of power that all of us possess—power that lies dormant in the inner confines of our hearts until needed. You are backed to your own goal and now is the time to dig down deep and find those hidden sources of strength or power. Many times individuals and even entire teams have found sources of strength that were beyond their hopes. The understanding that comes from knowing that additional power is within our grasp is another of the great lessons of football.

I could go on and on about the values that accrue from football. Virtually all of us agree that the discipline of football is a valuable educational experience. The problem comes in justifying so-called "big-time" football. Granted that there have been many cases of excesses and abuses (and all of us who are responsible must be ever vigilant to keep the game in its proper focus), the "big-time" game still serves a vital function.

The "big-time" game as it is played in the great stadia throughout the land with all the drama, glamour and excitement that attend it, serves as the inspirational force that attracts literally millions of small fry to its glitter, and thus to the benefits of its influence either vicariously or by direct participation.

Olin Hall was built in 1954 and houses the ceramics department. The building and its equipment were presented to the college by the Olin Foundation.

"Of course I like your work, but try to be a little more modest."

"Now, last but not least, was I holding illegally?"

The Structural Science Building houses certain departments of the School of Engineering as well as the School of Architecture. Occupied in 1960, it is one of the best equipped buildings in the nation.

1962-63 Basketball . . .

Because of a surprising development during the summer, Clemson's basketball team trots on the floor in December under a new coach.

Press Maravich, who brought the Tigers to a respectable position in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference, decided to resign his post at Clemson and become assistant to Coach Everett Case at North Carolina State College.

Named to replace the departed Serb is Bobby Roberts, four years an assistant under Maravich.

Roberts will have at his command some of the best basketball material ever assembled at Clemson.

The five "sizzling sophs" who started practically every game last year all return. This smooth-working quint includes Jim Brennan, Nick Milasnovich, Donnie Mahafey, Mike Bohonak and Woody Morgan.

Also returning are seniors Larry Seitz and Chuck Narvin and juniors Gary Burnisky, Richard Hall and Manning Privette.

Advancing from the freshman squad are Donnie Seitz, Stuart MacHolmes, Rudy Antoncic and Sam Cohn.

One of the most welcomed additions to the squad is the return of guard Choppy Patterson. For two straight years (1959-60 and 1960-61) Patterson led the Tigers in scoring. But a traffic accident in May of 1961 put the peppery little guard out of action for a year. He has a full year of eligibility remaining.

RULES CHANGES

by CHARLES W. TUCKER, JR.

1961's number one controversy provokes the chief rules
change

The Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association has added no new rules for 1962, but they have amended several of the old rules, which will give them a new look from the point of view of the grid fan, and which should be mentioned here in order to clarify what has happened. There have also been the usual number of technical changes in wording and rewriting to further simplify the application of the rules, but these will not be noticed by the spectator. Of the four or five changes in this year's rules, the one which will be the most conspicuous is the change in the rule governing the extension of a period; and it may be well to refresh our memories on this one in light of the controversy that developed in the Notre Dame-Syracuse game last November.

Syracuse was leading 15-14; and on the last play of the game Notre Dame tried a field goal, which failed. Time had expired on the play, but one of the officials called a penalty on a Syracuse end for roughing the holder of the kick. After a 15-yard penalty, Notre Dame tried another field goal, and this one was successful—thereby winning the game for them 17-15. After the game was over, a considerable controversy developed as to whether Notre Dame should have had another play. The rule governing extension of a period is rather long and somewhat complicated to the average fan, but there is one part of the rule which specifically states that the period shall not end if there is a foul on the last play by team B while team A is in possession of the ball. The Official N.C.A.A. Rules Interpretations contained ambiguous statements as to what constituted "possession" in the case of an attempted field goal. This led to the technical dispute that caused so much discussion last fall. The Rules Committee has now amended this rule in order to prevent any future occurrence of such a rharb. They have simply eliminated that part of the rule which reads, "a foul by team B while team A is in possession." In other words, if team B fouls team A on the last play of the game this year, team A gets another play regardless of whether they had kicked or passed the ball.

Among the other changes which will be noticed by you astute fans are the following:

TEAM A MAY NOW DOWN THEIR OWN SCRIMMAGE KICK WITHIN TEAM B'S 10-YARD LINE WITHOUT PENALTY.

For many years, team A has not been permitted to touch its scrimmage kick within team B's 10-yard line without penalty. The penalty was a touchback which gave team B the ball on its 20-yard line, first and ten to go. In years gone by, one of the great weapons in offensive football was a good kicker who could get that ball high enough to get his ends down the field and far enough to put it close to the opponent's goal line. If the ends were successful in downing the ball close to the goal line, team B was in the hole with their back to the wall. Because of the fact that there was vicious blocking by both teams, around the ball, the defense blocking out the offensive players in the hope that the ball would roll across the goal line for a touchback, and the offense trying to block out the defensive players in an attempt to get at the ball, the rule was put in the book restricting the offensive team from touching the ball within team B's 10-yard line. The Committee has now decided to change the rule back to where it was many years ago with no restriction on the kicking team attempting to down their own kick. So, we can assume there will be plenty of action on a punted ball near the goal line this season.

PENALTY FOR ILLEGAL SHIFT REDUCED FROM 15 YARDS TO 5 YARDS.

This is the second time this penalty has been changed in the past several years. On many plays there is a very fine distinction as to what is an illegal shift, which carries a 15-yard penalty, and an illegal motion, which carries a 5-yard penalty. Most officials are reluctant to take 15 yards away from a team on a borderline decision for an infraction no more serious than one which carries a 5-yard penalty. For this reason, it is quite possible that there were illegal shifts which were not penalized. By reducing the penalty on an illegal shift from 15 yards to 5 yards, it is now in the same category with illegal motion and will probably be penalized more frequently in the future.

"DELIVER A BLOW" INSERTED IN THE DISQUALIFYING FOULS RULE.

Last year, the disqualification rule stated that no player should strike an opponent with his fist, extended forearm, elbow or locked hands, or kick or knee an opponent. Penalty—15 yards and disqualification from further participation in the game. Apparently, the language of striking an opponent with extended forearm, elbow or locked hands was not strong enough, so they have inserted the words "deliver a blow" with extended forearm, elbow or locked hands which is quite clear in its language.

PENALTY FOR ILLEGALLY KICKING A BALL IN PLAYER-POSSESSION INCREASED FROM 5 TO 15 YARDS.

Last year, the penalty for illegally kicking a ball in player-possession was 5 yards from the spot. This year, the rule has been changed to 15 yards from the previous spot. In other words, if a defensive tackle broke through the line of scrimmage and deliberately kicked the ball out of the hands of an opponent who was holding it for a place kick, the penalty would now be 15 yards from the spot where the ball was snapped. The rule also goes further and states that this year no player shall deliberately kick a forward pass. This is a good trick if you can do it, but not in the eyes of the Rules Committee, as they have prescribed a 15-yard penalty from the previous spot for such an act. The penalty for deliberately kicking a free ball remains the same—offended team's ball at the spot of the foul.
